MILITARY POLICE

Protect Troops Both On-Post And Off-Post

(Editor's note: This is first part of a two part story on the M. P.'s)
BY PVT. JERRY LITTMAN

In civilian life there are policemen to enforce laws and maintain order, so in the Army there are Military Police to give the same protection.

Here at Camp Roberts, the authorized strength of the 374th Military Police Company is 132 enlisted men. These men give operational support to the office of the Provost Marshal. The men are under the control of Major Jacques deHart, the Provost Marshal.

Members of the M.P. Company have their own M.P. training school in the area just beyond Detachment 6100 ASU, where they are commanded by 1st Lt. Carl H. Pavone.

The M.P. School is an 80-hour training course, which gives men instruction in basic police work. This includes traffic control, accident investigation, judo training, use of the night stick, military courtesy and firing of the .45 automatic pistol.

The pistol is carried only by men who have successfully qualified in its use.

Several other Army camps, in addition to Camp Roberts, maintain M.P. schools, but the real home of M.P. training is the Provost Marshal General's school at Camp Gordon, Georgia.

Qualifications for becoming an M.P. are a minimum of 1 year prior service in the Army, excellent physical profile, normal color vision, minimum height of 5'8", an AGGT score of 90 or higher and a clean record.

The mission of the Military Police Corps is best explained by its creed which reads "The Military Police Corps accepts with pride its role of service to all military personnel and units."

"The mission of the Military Police Corps is to maintain good order and discipline within the military establishments and to enforce laws, regulations and orders."

The Military Police Corps code is "of the troops and for the troops." This motto is its guide and counsel.

Safe Driver's Award Presented

Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Champeny, commanding general, last week presented the Safe Driver's Award for December to Dental Detachment No. 1, 6100 ASU.

The detachment operated a total of 79 vehicles for the month without citation or accident. Second place winner was the 374th M. P. Company with an operating record of 74 vehicles without citation or accident.

Third place was won by Headquarters and Headquarters Service Company, 87th Recon Battalion, who operated 55 vehicles without incident.

New Electrical Wiring In Almond Acres Homes

With the arrival of an additional 250 Almond Acres units, new electrical wiring has been placed in nearly all of the 500 units.

This wiring enables residents to use hot plates, electric heaters, roasters and other electrical appliances, with no increase in rent.

Residents of the San Miguel housing project will now be able to cut down on the use of kerosene, since with this new wiring, kerosene can only be used on water heaters, if tenants so desire.

The average Almond Acres home used an average of sixty gallons of kerosene a month, before the wiring was installed.

Captain Ted Capps, Post housing officer, says that here are now 250 units ready for immediate occupancy. One bedroom homes rent for $51 per month, while two bedrooms rent for $56. This includes garbage pick up, lights and water.

The new units are open to enlisted personnel, officers and civilian employees of the Post.

A program is now in effect to improve living conditions at Almond Acres, to include new roads and barriers for unauthorized vehicles.

Further information may be obtained from the Post Housing Director's office, Bldg. 3031, or phone 57.

Colonel Braze Departs

Lieutenant Colonel Harry Braze, Chief of Faculty, 7th Armored Division, Camp Roberts, was presented the Division Certificate of Achievement last Thursday by Brigadier General Arthur S. Champeny, Commanding General. Colonel Braze has been Chief of Division Faculty since July 1952.

LT. COL. BRAZE

In comment upon his activity in that capacity, the commendation reads: "His insistence on perfection, wise and equitable distribution of teaching assignments and complete knowledge of the prescribed Army training program contributed greatly to this Division receiving a very high superior rating for training."

The Colonel leaves Camp Roberts with credit for having attained the highest of ratings for Division Faculty under his supervision.

Colonel Braze received his commission shortly before the second world war. He wears the Combat Infantry Badge, the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, Asiatic Theatre Ribbon with three stars and an arrowhead, American Defense Ribbon, American Theatre, World War II Victory Medal, and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with one star.

Prior to leaving for his new assignment with the Military Assistance and Advisory Group in Formosa early in March, the Colonel and his family will go to their home at 5006 61st St., Sacramento, Calif.

More Civilians Obtain Cash For Suggestions

For making suggestions to improve efficiency, five civilian employees of the Ordnance shops received cash and certificate awards last week.

Col. Irving Lehrfeld, chief of staff, presented the awards. The suggestions will result in a total annual saving of $2560.

Winning his third cash award and certificate was Mr. Ronald W. Eldred. He suggested that cracked and broken rifle stocks be repaired by dowling, glueing, refinishing and oiling. Refinishing cost of these stocks is 75 cents compared with the $4.66 cost of a new stock.

Mr. Koert R. Heeres received his fourth award for suggesting methods of eliminating fuel pump deficiencies on certain vehicles. Mr. George A. May and Mr. Charles C. Langley each received a cash award and certificate for suggesting the use of a paint cart which facilitates storage of paint at night and serves as a portable bench as well.

Mr. Edward E. Worthan also received a cash award and certificate for suggesting the installation of a loading ramp in the Ordnance Lubrication Department.

Civilian employees of Post Ordnance Shops, under Major Roy Riddle, to date lead all other civilians on the post in perfecting and projecting ideas for the cost economy program at Camp Roberts.

Civilians Dance At Officers Club Friday

Civilian Welfare Fund Council's Get Acquainted Party will be held tomorrow night at the Officers Club from 8 to midnight.

There will be dancing and light refreshments at the informal affair. It's all free, except for the drinks.

Rear Area Troops Require 40 Points For Rotation

Tokyo, Japan—Rear area troops in Korea now will need 40 instead of 38 points for rotation to the U.S., 8th Army headquarters has announced.

There was no change in the rotation requirement of nine months service—36 points—for soldiers at the front.

Troops at the front get four rotation points a month. Those near the front get three points and soldiers far to the rear get two points. Personnel stationed in Japan whose families are with them receive one point monthly. Others get one and one-half points.

Gen. Mark Clark said the two additional points for rotation of behind-the-lines troops was made necessary "because of lack of sufficient replacements from the United States to continue rotation in January on the basis of 38 (points) and still maintain the combat efficiency of the 8th Army and other Army units throughout the command."—AFPS.

Make Appeal For March Of Dimes

Military and civilian leaders of the armed forces have issued a widespread appeal for the 1953 March of Dimes.

At Camp Roberts, there are miniature iron lungs, depository canisters, for contributions.

The appeal for funds follows the worst polio year of all time with a record incidence of more than 56,000 new cases. March of Dimes funds available for patient care in 1952 were exhausted, leaving a debt of $7,000,000 in unpaid bills as a mortgage on 1953 polio funds.

Personnel of the armed services contributed $3,220,000 to the 1952 March of Dimes, a substantial increase over their donations the preceding year.

CONGRATULATIONS are extended to 1st Lt. Max B. Weaver, 87th Recon Battalion, by Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Champeny, commanding general. Lt. Weaver received the Bronze Star recently for meritorious service in Korea. On

Lt. Weaver's right is Lt. Rohry MacNeill, 87th Recon Battalion, who was awarded the Bronze Star and Silver Star for gallantry in Korea, when a platoon sergeant. (Shannon Photo).

Three Day Blood Drive Starts

Camp Roberts will have a chance to regain first spot in the Sixth Army blood drive, when the Red Cross Blood Center opens next Wednesday for three days.

The center, Bldg. 313, will be in operation on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 28, 29 and 30 January. It will be open from 0800 to 1000 hours and from 1300 to 1530 hours.

San Jose's Red Cross Blood Center provides the medical help, while surrounding communities provide volunteers.

Camp Roberts dropped to second place in the area wide program with 14,728 pints donated over a fourteen month period through November.

In first place was Camp Stoneman with 14,856 pints. Third spot went to the combined donations of Fort Ord and the Army Language School with 13,253.

Fort Lewis and Madigan Hospital combined to donate some 13,218 pints and received fourth place.

Hitch-hiking Prohibited "Share-the-Ride"

Hitchhiking or "thumbing a ride" is prohibited by SR 600-755-1, dated 24 December 1952.

The regulation reads "these regulations prohibit the solicitation of rides on public highways and thoroughfares by Army personnel by signaling passing vehicles in any manner whatsoever, or by standing or walking on the traveled portion of the roadway in the direction of traffic."

However, "these regulations do not preclude acceptance by military personnel of offers of rides voluntarily made by individuals or properly accredited organizations."

The regulation also states that hitchhiking on State Highways may be sanctioned by local military authorities. In addition, hitchhiking is against the state law.

Two weeks ago in order to solve the travel problem, Camp Roberts installed share-the-ride signs for north, south and east travellers at the main gate and gate No. 7.

East Garrison. Similar signs will be erected at gate No. 2.

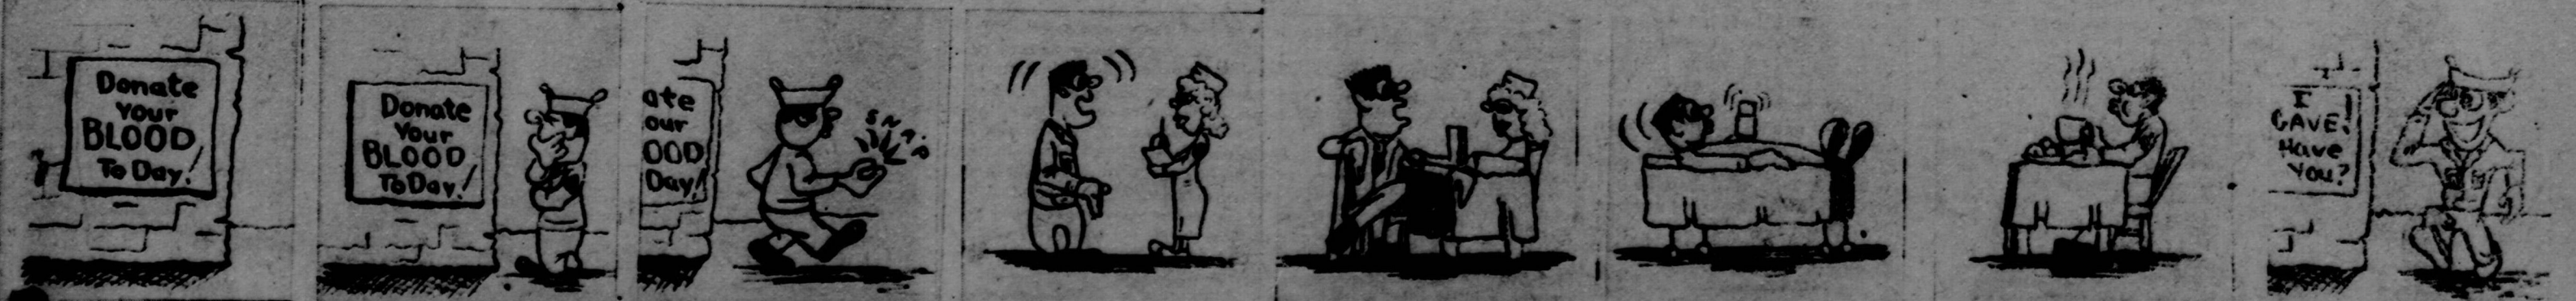

Share-the-ride signs will also be installed at specific locations in Paso Robles, San Miguel and the old and new off-Post parking lots for the convenience of personnel.

Personnel are urged to use the share-the-ride spots, in order to comply with regulations regarding hitchhiking and for their own convenience.

Colonel Jules French Observes Training

Col. Jules K. French, G-3 Section, Sixth Army, spent three days here last week observing training facilities.

Upon completion of his stay, he left for Fort Dix, New Jersey, to take over a regiment of the 9th Infantry Division.

CHAPLAIN'S MESSAGE

"In Life's Storms"

By CHAPLAIN (CAPT.) FREDRICK H. OGILVIE

There is no time when the soundness of a structure is tested more than during a storm. The builder must calculate the stress that the building will be subjected to, and seek to fortify as much as possible to give sufficient strength to withstand the stress imposed by the storm.

It does not require much reasoning to conclude that a human life, with all its potentialities, is the most valuable thing that can be built; therefore, every effort should be made to fortify it against the storms of life.

In building, however, after the structure has been fortified against the storm, additional protection is offered the owner by investing in insurance in case of an eventuality. Insurance in all its forms is but a cooperative effort to protect the individual against eventualities the consequences of which he could not meet alone without severe embarrassment.

We believe in property insurance, including fire and tornado, we also believe in automobile insurance including liability and other forms. We patronize, or support, insurance in all forms. We believe it is good sense to do so.

Well, our religion would remind us of the folly of neglecting the most important insurance of all—insurance against lack of character to survive and succeed in life's predictable storms. Some of the predictable storms may be discouragement, proplexy, bewilderment, anxiety, struggle, adversity, and distress of body, mind and spirit.

Isn't it good sense to secure an insurance policy against such predictable certainties? Only the life built upon definite religious and moral convictions can battle successfully against life's storms.

HEALTH NOTES

The respiratory disease rate is steadily declining at Camp Roberts, reaching its lowest point since 1 December.

Although a few colds are being reported, the symptoms are not severe, and the diagnosis is a simple cold, nothing more.

The hospital is continuing to make a careful study of colds to detect any cases of influenza that do occur.

Special attention is being given this week to the screening of men reporting from induction stations that have a supposedly high rate of respiratory diseases. These men are being quarantined for screening, and then released when no evidence of influenza is found.

Thus far there have been no alarming symptoms and immunization with vaccine shots is not being contemplated.

CONVENIENCES

Life On Fighting Front Vastly Changed Since WWII

Korea (AFPS)—While war at its best is a dirty business, the Armed Forces here have civilized life for the fighting man to a degree that would not have seemed believable to the American soldier who landed in Africa 10 years ago.

Combat Thesis Based On First Hand Experience

Korea—Inside a squat, uncomfortable-looking bunker on the frontline a studious bespectacled Army captain sits cross-legged and writes in a ponderous notebook by candlelight.

A new replacement would probably deduce that the captain was writing a report of an attack by the infantry company on the slope or figuring out the unit's supply needs.

The replacement would be wrong. The captain is not concerned with the tactics of the situation any more than he seems to care that the Chinese Communists are only 200 yards away.

Capt. Roger W. Little, 30, is a student at Michigan State University and right now he is preparing his Doctor of Philosophy thesis on the subject, "A Study of the Relationship Between Combat Role Behavior and Participation in Small Groups."

Capt. Little believes in doing the research for his Ph.D. at first hand and hence his appearance with Love Company of an American regiment.

The scholarly captain will tell you without blinking an eye that there is just no other way of studying the behavior of a rifle company in combat than by living with the soldiers in it and talking to them constantly.

The whole plan for the study was Capt. Little's idea. No one asked him to come to Korea. The Army wanted him to continue studying at Michigan State since it thought the additional information would be useful when he was assigned to an Army hospital.

But Capt. Little, though a married man, asked permission to pursue the research on his Ph.D. thesis with a rifle company in Korea. He picked Love Company as his field laboratory because, as he says, he liked their motto, "Lovers at Heart, Fighters by Trade," which he thought showed great imagination.

Precisely what Capt. Little's conclusions will be cannot be determined until much more research is completed.

By the time the results are published Capt. Little will probably be pretty close to being Doctor Little and members of Love Company will be immortalized in the impressive archives of Michigan State University.—AFPS.

This is not to say that fighting a war has become as comfortable as living in a steam-heated flat. But the Services have come a long way since the days of Casablanca and Kasserine Pass toward easing the hardships of its fighting men.

For example, most of the little things wrong with equipment have been corrected. Sleeping bags that first were nonexistent and then were death traps because one could not get out of them quickly in an emergency, now are in plentiful supply and have quick-escape mechanisms.

Pot-bellied stoves that once had to be fed wood and coal constantly, have been replaced with automatic Diesel oil or gasoline affairs that work efficiently.

Once when a soldier opened a tin of emergency rations he had the prospect of eating hash, beans or spaghetti and meatballs. And with great quantities of fresh meat and poultry on hand, meals are sent to forward positions as often as possible.

The Korean terrain has also helped the military in its humanizing program. Just behind the rugged mountains and front-lines, tent camps have been set up. Here such facilities as showers, sleeping quarters, and recreation clubs are at the disposal of the battle-weary soldier.

Another improvement is the armored vest which infantrymen wear when in real danger—usually when forward of the frontlines. These light metal protectors have saved countless lives.

The most important humanizing factor has been the rotation program. In the early part of WWII, an infantry soldier knew he would have to continue fighting until he was severely wounded or the war ended before being sent home. Today, the infantryman knows that after a certain number of months he can return Stateside.

The Armed Forces have improved in many ways and the fighting man in Korea has an honest debt to pay to many fellows he never saw or knew.

In the early part of WWII, an infantry soldier knew he would have to continue fighting until he was severely wounded or the war ended before being sent home. Today, the infantryman knows that after a certain number of months he can return Stateside.

The Armed Forces have improved in many ways and the fighting man in Korea has an honest debt to pay to many fellows he never saw or knew.

Raiders Edge Out Hamilton AFB; Have Easy Win Over Marin Club

6100 ASU Leads Bowling League Going Into Finals

Four rounds of the post Bowling Tournament were finished Monday night with 6100 ASU leading the seven-team league with a four win, no loss record and a total score of 16 points this far in the tourney.

6100 has successfully downed four of the other six teams entered in the tourney since the contest began on Jan. 12.

They took their first win over DivArty on Jan. 12 with a 4-0 score. CCB fell victim to them on Jan. 14 as the ASU team turned in another 4-0 victory. Determined not to have their perfect record upset, they scored another 4-0 win over 7th Quartermaster on Jan. 16 and handed DivTrains the same kind of defeat Monday night.

If the precision pin tumbling continues, 6100 ASU is almost certain to win the tourney, a feat which would give them the post bowling crown for the third consecutive year.

Running a close second to the ASU five is the team from CCB, which has dropped one game in the tourney, that one being to 6100. CCB has scored 12 points and has had 4 points scored against them.

CCA, with a 2 win, loss record in the contest, was riding at third place this week, while DivTrains, ResCom, and the 7th Quartermasters, who have all won one and lost two, shared a three-way tie for fourth.

With the burden of three defeats on their backs, the DivArty team is down in the cellar.

Team	Won	Lost
6100 ASU	4	0
CCB	3	1
CCA	2	2
7th QM	1	2
ResCom	1	2
DivTrains	1	2

Duckworth of 6100 ASU is leading the individual scoring with a game average of 546 pins. Walton of DivTrains was in second place with a 518 average. Two more of the ASU boys were scoring in third and fourth place, Fabis, with an average of 512, and Brooks with a 500 average. Coen of CCB kept among the top five with a game average of 495.

Fliers Barely Downed In 71-70 Scramble

Fliers Tough Foe

In their second duel of a two-game series with the quintet of Hamilton AFB, the Raiders stormed through a photo-finish fourth quarter to edge out the determined Fliers 71 to 70 last Wednesday night after a battle that had run neck and neck from the starting whistle.

Defeated by the Raiders 93 to 67 in the tilt the night before, the Fliers set the pace for a thrill packed game as they grabbed a one point lead at the end of the first quarter.

In a grueling second quarter, the Fliers hung on to their narrow lead and managed to stretch it one point further as they crept ahead of the Raiders 33 to 36 at half time.

At the end of the third quarter the Raiders were even-steven with the Fliers with a 54 to 54 tie on the scoreboard, setting the stage for a thrill-a-minute final.

The Raiders tall center, Jerry Pease, scored an important 8 points during the final round. Aided by the baskets of Bill Freeman and Bob Winkles, the Raiders moved ahead of the determined Hamilton Fliers by one point just as the final whistle blew with the score reading: Raiders—71, Hamilton—70.

Pease rolled in 20 points for the Raiders to reign as their top man for the tilt. Winkles and Freeman hit for 14 apiece.

In a performance repeating his previous style, the Fliers Bill Hagler scored 26 points to cop high man honors for the game.

Marin Easy Prey

Defeating the ball club of Marin Town and Country Club proved to be an easy task for the Raiders Sunday night as they racked up a 78-53 victory.

The Raiders held a substantial 36-27 lead at half time and hit for another 21 points in the third quarter to widen the margin even more, 57-39.

Cassidy and Duggan were the ram rods of the Marin Town and Country Club five with 16 points each.

Raider scoring was pretty well divided during the tilt as everybody seemed to be hitting for at least five or six points.

Joey Johnson dropped through 12 points to cop scoring honors for the Raiders. Bill Straw and Virgil Sullivan were close behind with 10 points each. Bobby Pounds accounted for 9 points during the tilt.

The Raiders hit close to 60 per cent of their free throws as they dropped in 14 of the 23 attempts.

Raiders Record Looks Good At Mid-Season

As the basketball season at Camp Roberts finds itself in mid-season, its time to take a look at the score book and brag a little, keeping in mind that the Raiders have the second half of a rough schedule to complete plus a few ultra-important tournaments which are just around the corner.

First glance at the record shows that the Raiders have engaged 25 opponents thus far this season and walked away the victor in 20 of these tilts.

Opening the season with an eight-game victory march, the Raiders let a strong Santa Maria Dukes team edge them out of the undefeated ranks on Nov. 26, as they walked away on the tail end of a 81-69 score. A week before, the "fire engine five" had passed by the Dukes 96-87.

Second defeat of the season for the Raiders was also at the hands of the Dukes who eeked out a 94-91 victory over the Roberts five after a battle royal.

The only loss the Raiders have given up to another service club was to the Navy Phib Pac squad on Dec. 19 when the boys in bell bottom trousers won a close 81-75 victory from the Raiders.

Just to even things up, the "fire engine five" turned on the steam the following night to down the Navy five 76-66. Two weeks later, the Raiders met Phib Pac at the Roberts Sports Arena in a two game series and downed them again in both battles.

Two other victories over the Raiders were Kirby Shoes, a semi-pro club of Los Angeles, and the Olympic Club of San Francisco. The Olympic Club cancelled out their return match with the Raiders scheduled for Jan. 18, destroying the Raiders chances to get even. There is a possibility the two teams might tangle again in the PAA tourney which opens soon.

On the other side of the score book, the Raiders have recorded victories over the strong teams of San Diego Marines, San Diego Naval Training Center, El Toro Marines, Camp Pendleton Marine, Hamilton AFB Fliers, Edwards AFB, Camp San Luis Obispo, Cal Poly, College of Sequoias, and Whitworth College.

A closer look

A quick glance at the scoring record shows that the Raiders thus far in the season have scored a total of 2,024 points for an average of slightly more than 80 points per game, while their opponents have been held to 1,650 points for a game average of 66.

Little Bob Winkles is setting the pace for individual point making. He has rolled his points for the season up to 343 for a 13 point-per-game average.

The Raiders lanky center, Jerry Pease, rides close behind with a 12 point-per-game record from the 291 points he has scored thus far this season.

Coming in for a close third in the scoring column is big Jim Loscutoff who has rolled in 265 points for the Raiders up to date for a game average of 11.

In short, Raider scoring has shifted continuously from one player to another. The entire team has demonstrated its ability on the offensive. Throughout the season, the precision teamwork displayed by the Raiders has been the deciding factor in keeping Camp Roberts at the top of the list of "winning ball clubs."

There is a possibility that the Raiders first tournament will be the Stockton Invitational which opens on Feb. 22. From there they will battle for the crown in the Pacific Athletic Association tourney starting March 2, and from there on into the battle for the Southern Division Sixth Army Championship which rolls around 9 to 14 of March.

Between now and tournament time, the Raiders have a month full of headaches in the form of Cal Poly, the Harlem Clowns, Treasure Island, and Alameda Naval Air Station, a few of the toughies on their remaining schedule.

At present they are still engaged in their regimental playoffs and no tentative lineup for a regimental team is available. It will probably be Feb. 1, or after before they actually start working out their regimental selections.

ResCom

Res Com is preparing for the tourney in a quiet sort of a way. At present they are still engaged in their regimental playoffs and no tentative lineup for a regimental team is available. It will probably be Feb. 1, or after before they actually start working out their regimental selections.

Regiments Set For February Cage Tourney

By PVT. FULKERSON

Some regimental teams are already sharpening their claws for the post basketball tourney which will open on Feb. 15, while a few of the regiments are still involved in regimental playoffs or in the process of selecting regimental teams from the excellent material that has suddenly popped up here at Roberts.

Boasting a squad of experienced ball players plus the coaching of Raider star, Bob Winkles, CCA should prove to be strong by the time tourney time rolls around.

The "Spartans" have already started practice sessions with a squad that includes several former college ball players. CCA's tentative line-up lists as members of their regimental team, Dick Umfleet who used to play with Flat-river J. C., Missouri, and a 2-year all Junior College star; Gill Lauer, a 3-year letterman at Springfield College, Mass.; Thomas Williams, an all Missouri Valley player with Stoke's Teacher's College, Missouri; and Bob Holmquist, a former forward with Denver U.

Monday night saw the completion of DivTrains regimental playoff as Co. "A", 129th AQM defeated Co. "D", 31st AAA, 50 to 29 to cop the regimental championship.

When the regiment actually gets into practice work for the post tourney, they'll have some fine material in the form of Jimmy Winters, former Portland U. star, and Robert Madricks who used to play for Valparaiso back in Indiana.

Among the strong contenders for the Camp Roberts basketball crown will be DivArty which will also be working with a group of fine material.

A temporary roster from DivArty reveals a lot of strength, including Milliard, a former U. of Idaho star, Diehl, a 2-year letterman with Marquette and several other experienced ball handlers which all add up to good possibilities for a championship team.

ResCom

Res Com is preparing for the tourney in a quiet sort of a way. At present they are still engaged in their regimental playoffs and no tentative lineup for a regimental team is available. It will probably be Feb. 1, or after before they actually start working out their regimental selections.

Seayin' Sports

With JIM SEAY (Parade Sports Editor)

YESSIR that basketball team of ours is really hittin' on all cylinders, and it looks like one of the most outstanding seasons of all time. You might call this our basketball edition from all the space devoted to the new potential World Wide All Army champions, as we are mighty proud to give the team a plug for their top-notch performances.

A few interesting sidelights on the forthcoming Cal Poly game at San Luis Obispo on the 23rd of this month reveals that tall, gangling center Al Sutton who boasts an average of 12.6 points after nine contests, will be sitting this one out. Sutton is spending a lot of time on the bench this season due to a recurring knee injury.

Gene Knott, an all-conference jaycee player while with Long Beach City college last year, will be filling the gap for the Cal Poly Five.

Dave Ziemer, a three-year veteran guard, will be fighting to maintain his leading point record of 248 points, so from all appearances it should be a red-hot game.

POINTS of interest from the Hamilton Air Force contest, and we mean points of interest, 52 of them to be exact, all scored by fast-moving Ed Hagler of the Fliers. From all sources this appears to be the most points ever scored against the Raiders in a two game series by one individual. If he had made them all in one game, it really would have been a record.

A NEW CROP of boxers have a chance to show what they can do in tonight's smoker with the Parks Air Force. Coached by Ted Dean, who participated in the 1948 Olympics, the Post team has been bolstered by a sprinkling of ex-golden gloves. Johnny Castro, Willie Dillard, Ted Floyd, Jim Crisp, and Joe Reynolds are working out for their chance to carry additional boxing honors to the Post of Champions.

Although a lot of people were highly disappointed at the cancellation of last Thursday's go with San Luis Obispo, they should be more than satisfied with the lineup for tonight. Come on down to the Sports Arena at 2000 hours, it'll be a leather-slinging show you can't afford to miss.

In Tokyo a Camp Drake Army Rice Bowl game for the first Far East interservice football championship. Camp Drake had previously won the Far East Army title. Yokosuka trounced an Air Force eleven to win the right to battle for the interservice crown.

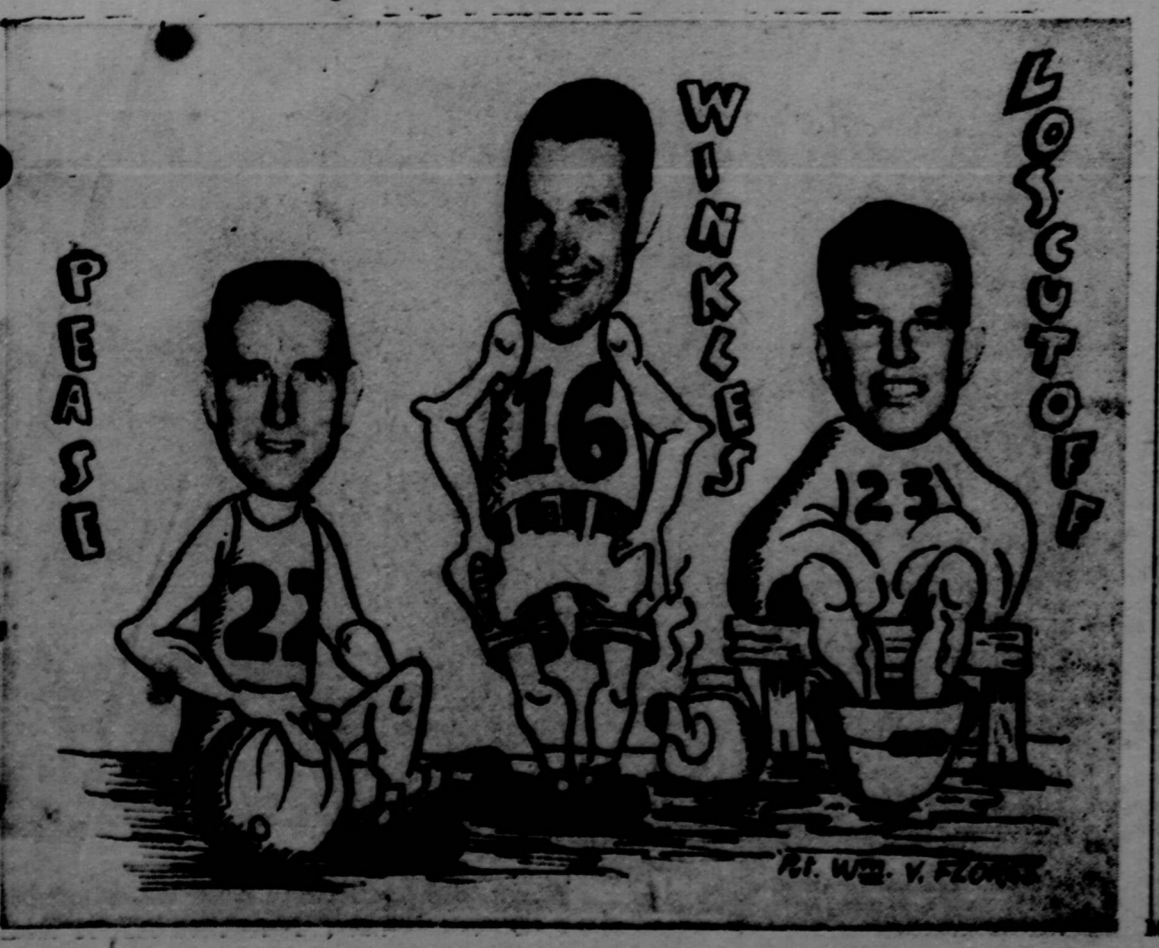

CCB The only bit of information from CCB reveals that they are in the middle of a regimental playoff and that Co. "B", 31st MTB, seems to be the outstanding team there.

7th QM Less information was available from 7th Quartermaster. They profess to have some outstanding players, but no names are available at this time. The only note of warning they came out with was that they will "have a tear in the post tourney".

Wilson Show Performs Twice At Theater One

Scotty Wilson brought his fine troupe of "Dundee Entertainers" to Theater One last Saturday to do two great shows. The troupe was blessed with beautiful girls, wonderful music and many gags.

One of the headliners of the cast was lovely songstress Dolly Varela. Dolly almost stopped the show when she went down into the audience to sing "Baby Face." Picking members from the audience that best filled the bill, Dolly sang directly to the embarrassed but happy soldiers.

Another act that brought much applause from the capacity crowd was the "Jolly Millers." The three hillbillies really whooped it up with a mountain version of the "Tennessee Waltz," finishing their part of the show with some popular western favorites.

Next to take the spotlight was the dancing team of Margaret Guinn and Georgia Stubbins. Dressed in beautiful ballerina tights, the twosome did a wide variety of numbers including the Toe Strut.

Getting everyone into the act, Scotty called some soldiers from the audience to put on hula skirts and appear with three lovely girls in a number that wasn't too reminiscent of Waikiki Beach.

Scotty Wilson ably emceed the show with his wit and patter. This was the second time in as many months this fine group from Southern California has put on shows at Camp Roberts.

That Old Feeling Dept.: David Andrews, 19-year-old son of movie actor Dana Andrews, goes into the Army in February. Ted Brown, a key-figure on ventriloquist Paul Winchell's TV show, was a radio operator on a B-17 during WWI. He and another crewmember were the only survivors when their plane was shot down over Frankfurt, Germany.

Be kind to your I&E instructor—he may be famous some day. Brian Sullivan, a former I&E sergeant, made Met Opera history recently when he was called out of the audience to sing the Don Jose role in "Carmen." The talented tenor gave a faultless performance.

CDR Arthur Godfrey was awarded the McGough Memorial Award by American Legion Air Post 501 for his "outstanding service to American aviation during 1952."

Looks At Books

Adventure story fans will enjoy a new novel "THE LOST TRAIL OF THE SAHARA" by R. Frison-Roche. It contains all the necessary ingredients for an exciting adventure story. There is the young, inexperienced lieutenant who is put in command of an expedition into the wild interior of the Sahara, the sergeant who is no longer the able soldier due to dissipation, the native girl who is the cause of his sufferings, the scientist whose sole interest lies in discovering the secrets of the past and hostile tribesmen.

Full of information about the customs, traditions, and topography of one of the world's most unknown regions this book combines the excitement of a novel with the appeal of a book of exploration.

Many other adventure and mystery stories await you at your post libraries.

Baby Takes Care, Returns To Duty On Ranger Staff

Pancho, in many ways, is like any other baby. He crawls, swallows his food too quickly and affectionately hugs anyone that comes close to him.

Only Pancho takes his hugging seriously. He's a baby boomer constrictor and valuable member of the faculty at the Army's Infantry Ranger Camp near Pensacola, where he "teaches" snake recognition.

One day, Pancho became ill. He slithered around his cage without any of his former zest or bounce. He was irritated and became extremely temperamental and stubborn.

With a dead-pan expression he refused such delicacies as dead mice and rabbits. He stretched out to his full five feet and turned his fangs up at all offerings.

Investigation proved that Pancho was suffering from a mouth infection and a penicillin mouthwash was prescribed. Pancho refused to open his mouth. Sometimes he'd stick out his forked tongue and dare anyone to come near him.

The Army has no patience with temperamental snakes. Pancho's mouth was forced open with a wooden spoon and the mouthwash was squirted on the sore spots. Then food was forced down his throat.

Pancho had to admit he'd been a fool. He began to feel better almost immediately. And before long he was once more all "wrapped up" in his work.

Chorus Sings In Oakland Sunday

The 95th Engineer A Capella Choir will sing an evening program of spirituals and sacred music at the Montclair Methodist Church, Oakland, this Sunday.

The group is composed of 22 members of the 95th Engineers, and is under the direction of Pvt. Earl Preston, professional choral director, group singer and soloist.

Since its organization, the chorus has sung repeatedly in outlying communities, and has made guest appearances in Oakland and Los Angeles.

Although the group specializes in music of a spiritual nature, they offer many amusing numbers of a secular vein in contrast.

The chorus has won considerable notice for the high caliber of its work.

Old Style Jazz Featured In Bunk Johnson's Album

By CPL. JAMES RHODES
Let's take a rundown on this week's hits and misses and some that will be remembered long after these words are forgotten.

LE JAZZ HOT:
A real find for those of you who appreciate old style jazz in Columbia's new album, "LAST JAZZMAN" featuring 62 year old Bunk Johnson, a sort of Old Man with a Horn. This one is so good I'd be content just listening to the scraps of wax that fell to the floor during its cutting.

SQUARE-LAIR:
Ravel's "L'HEURE ESPAGNOLE" on Vox is some nice French pastry for those who relish a rich diet when it comes to classical music. And if you are expecting a liberal translation of the title you'd better run, not walk to your nearest French dictionary, 'cause I ain't talking.

Pie Baking Contest Here In February

The second annual Camp Roberts pie baking contest will be held next month, under the joint sponsorship of both Service Clubs and the Post Food Service Supervisor.

Purpose of the contest is to encourage the raising of baking standards. The contest is open to every mess hall. Prizes will be awarded.

Further information will be available next week.

Saturday's Show Features Guitar, Marimba Player

Two outstanding musicians will perform Saturday on the stage of Theater No. 1, when the Sonny Miller Show makes its bow.

Performances are scheduled for 1830 and 2030 hours to accommodate the expected large turnout of in addition to the two musicians, the Sonny Miller Show will present a bevy of beautiful girls, who will both sing and dance.

Guitar player and singer Ken Jarnagin has a voice that many call "soothing." His voice range has enabled him to sing many songs few others might accomplish.

His program varies from Schubert's "Ave Maria" to "The St. Louis Blues," including the favorite songs of yesterday and today. The western type of song, so popular today, will also form part of Jarnagin's portion of the show.

The dexterity of his fingers on the guitar's fingerboard will show why this musician has been called back again and again by theater audiences everywhere.

The other musician is marimba player Flemming Orem. Originally from Washington D. C., Orem was a soloist on the Columbia Broadcasting System when only 16 years old.

He also had his own program on the National Broadcasting Company. Orem has played at various receptions in the nation's capitol, including embassies and legations. He appeared in concerts with J. B. Huriado of the Guatemala Marimba Band.

The Washington Post remarked that Orem is "truly a great virtuoso of the marimba."

Originally known only in Africa, the marimba was brought to this country by African slaves. Today it has become a concert instrument and in the hand of an artist such as Flemming Orem, it opens up vast new possibilities in the realm of music.

It has long been considered primarily a Latin instrument to be used when playing tangos and rumbas. Those in attendance this Saturday at Theater No. 1 will be surprised to hear Brahms, Liszt, Chopin, Beethoven and other old masters, as well as lighter classics and our own style of dance music skillfully interpreted by Orem.

Mrs. Brown: "A tramp indeed! I'll have you know this is my husband."
