RESERVE OFFICERS

Appointments Offered For Indefinite Period

Washington (AFPS)—Indefinite appointments in the Army Reserve will be offered immediately to reserve officers and warrant officers now serving on active duty, the Department of Defense announces.

Indefinite appointments to Air Force officers and Army Reserve officers not on active duty will also be offered prior to July 1, 1953. Navy Reserve, Marine Corps Reserve, National Guard and Air National Guard officers' appointments are already on an indefinite term basis.

Appointment will be in the individual's permanent Reserve grade. Those serving in higher or lower temporary grades will continue to serve on active duty in those grades.

To expedite the program, no physical examinations will be required and only the individual's acceptance in writing and execution of an oath of office are necessary.

Current five-year appointments of Reserve Officers, which have already been extended by law, are due to expire Oct. 28, 1952. Should another similar extension be made, these appointments would expire April 1, 1953.

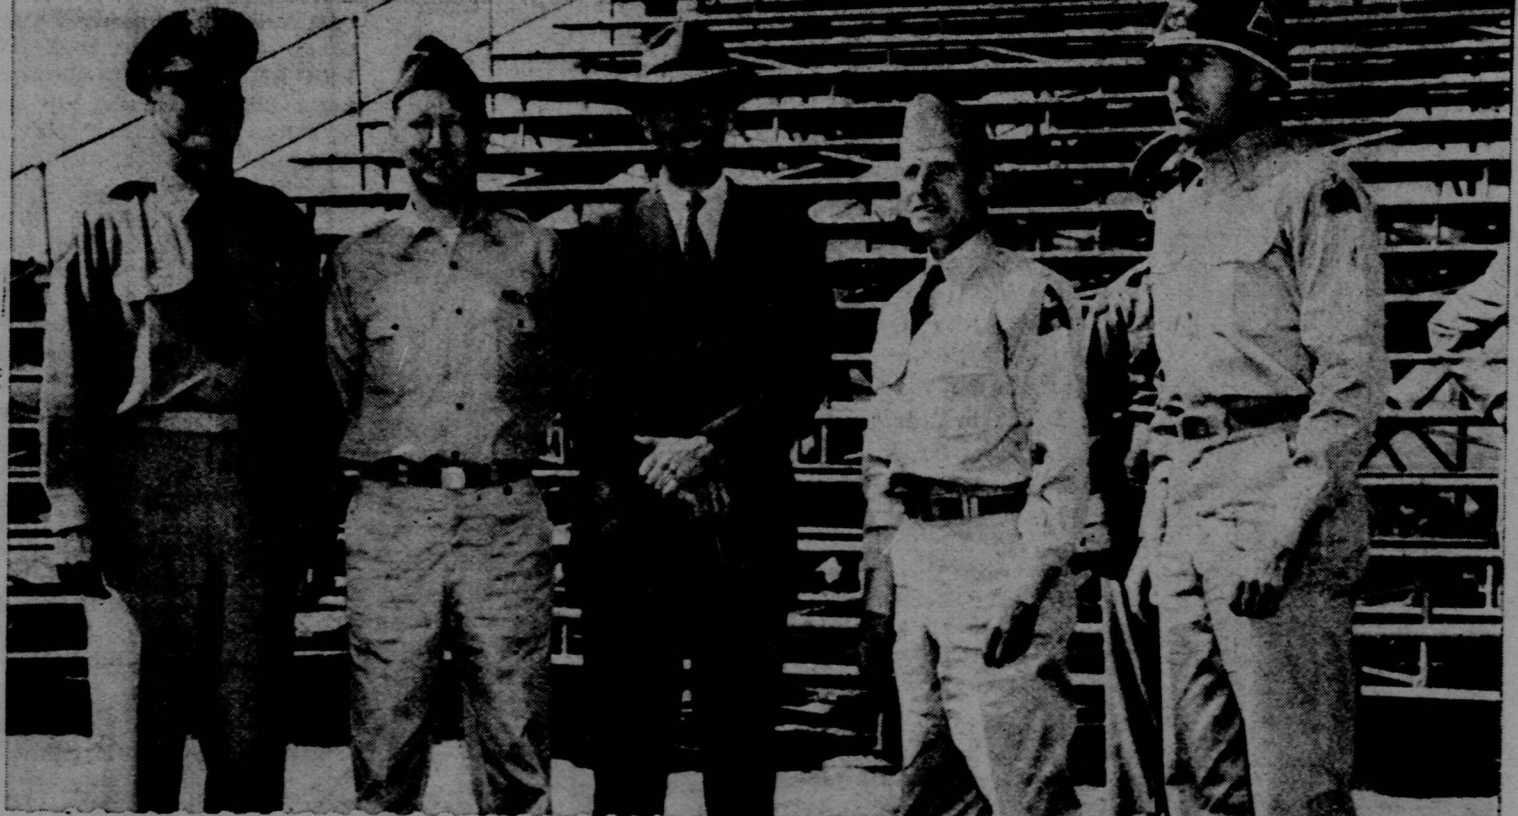

Those who decline to accept a new indefinite term appointment will continue to serve under their current appointment as extended by law or until its normal date of expiration, whichever is later, unless sooner released from active duty.

Accompanying Mr. Pace from Washington were Mr. John Kane, his special assistant; Mr. Don Griffin, state aide from New Jersey; Lt. Col. Thomas Cleary; and Lt. Col. John Norton, both from the Department of the Army, Washington, D. C.

Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing, Commanding General, Sixth Army, and Brig. Gen. W. T. Sexton, Chief of Staff, Sixth Army, came with Mr. Pace's party from the Presidio of San Francisco.

The Secretary of the Army and his party flew to Camp Roberts in a U. S. Air Force C-47 and landed on the parade ground late Monday afternoon.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr., visited Camp Roberts last Monday and Tuesday and found in his visit "a tremendous and personal thrill" as he attended formal welcoming ceremonies and inspected training methods.

Accompanying Mr. Pace from Washington were Mr. John Kane, his special assistant; Mr. Don Griffin, state aide from New Jersey; Lt. Col. Thomas Cleary; and Lt. Col. John Norton, both from the Department of the Army, Washington, D. C.

The Secretary of the Army and his party flew to Camp Roberts in a U. S. Air Force C-47 and landed on the parade ground late Monday afternoon.

Mr. Pace received formal arriving honors at Leaders' Course at 0800 hours Tuesday. Following a 19 gun salute, he trooped the line with Maj. Gen. Frank H. Partridge, Commanding General, and then awarded the following decoration to Korean vet-

cluding the Bayonet Assault Course where he swung across the stream bed on the newly erected rope swing.

The Secretary then went to the woods near the D-14 area for luncheon prepared and served by the Food Service School, Capt. Sylvan P. Walgren, Commandant, and 1st Lt. Vincent C. Nibali, Director of Training. The luncheon was prepared under the direction of M/Sgt. Charles Shields, Mess Sergeant.

Before lunching, Mr. Pace and his party inspected the Training Aids display which showed mock-ups of weapons and other graphic training aids. Display was installed by Lt. Ralph E. Sherrard and Training Aids personnel.

Interviewed before luncheon in the woods near the D-14 area, Mr. Pace referred to the Bayonet Assault Course and said: "I think this is one of the finest and most ingenious means of teaching methods of combat I have ever seen."

"Camp Roberts is most impressive. Standards are high and discipline is clear. The interest of the soldier is definitely shown. It gives me a personal thrill as Secretary of the Army to see what is being done here under the command of Maj. Gen. Frank H. Partridge."

"I have talked to many men. They feel that the training is tough, hard, and sound, and they also feel they are being prepared for anything they may have to face."

After a luncheon of fried chicken—which Mr. Pace enjoyed so much that he went back for seconds—the Secretary of the Army departed from the Parade Ground by plane.

MANAGEMENT IMPROVEMENT

Industrial Engineering Techniques Available

A recently announced Management Improvement Program will make available to Camp Roberts operating officials the services rendered private industry by industrial engineering techniques.

Management engineering, the term generally used when industrial engineering techniques are broadened and modified to conform with the needs of government agencies, is one of the two important aspects of the new program.

The other is the system whereby all installation functions are divided into "programs." Responsibility for improving operating efficiency is vested in "program directors." The directors, who consequently form the backbone of the new plan consist of existing staff section chiefs.

Programs and program directors are as follows:

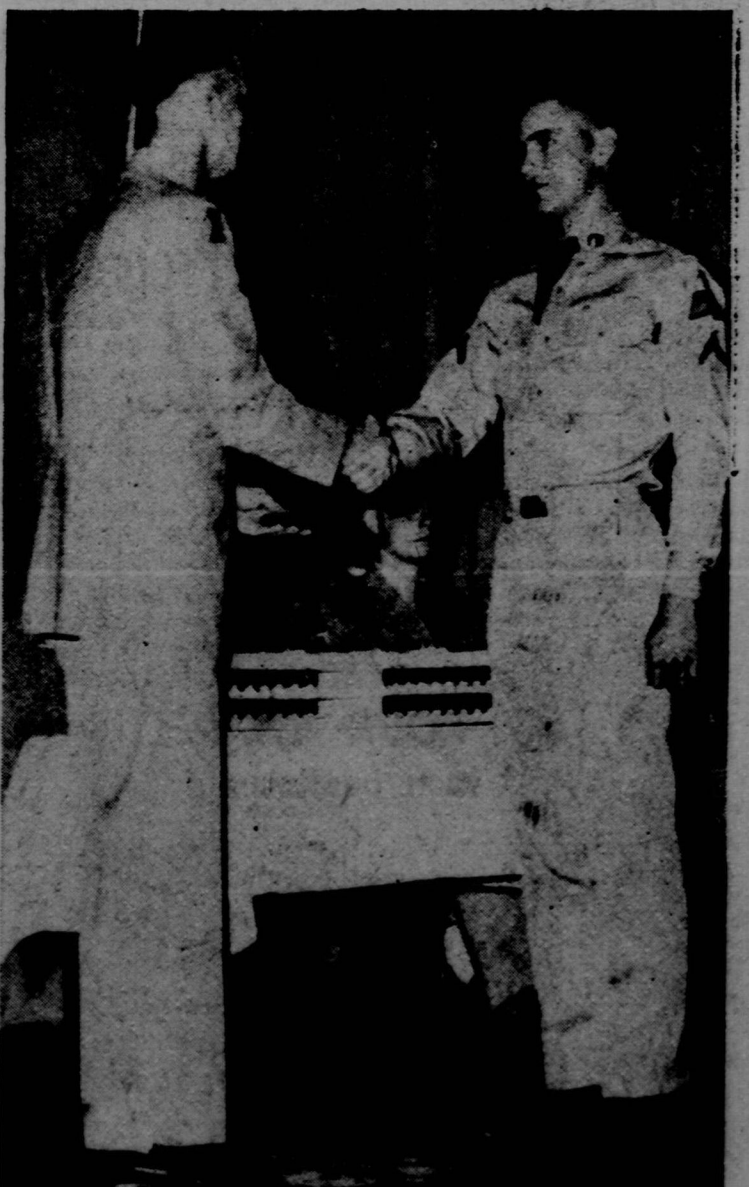

- | Program   | Director |

REPORT from WASHINGTON

The Defense Department has estimated that approximately 610,000 men will be inducted into the Armed Forces this fiscal year. In order to meet this military manpower goal Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service Director, has announced that it might be necessary ultimately to call men who have been deferred for dependency reasons. Gen. Hershey declared that there were no plans for wiping out dependency deferments in the next few months, but that a review was of the "utmost importance" because of sharply heavier induction quotas beginning in October.

Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett announces that the nation's Armed Forces increased 300 percent in 1951. The army was enlarged from 500,000 to 1,500,000, the Navy from 376,000 to 900,000 and the Air Force from 401,000 to 973,000, with Marine Corps strength tripled.

One out of every three WACs in service is now stationed overseas, in England, Japan, Okinawa or other areas, Col. Mary A. Hallaran, director of the Women's Army Corps, has announced.

The Veterans Administration announces that post-Korea veterans who want to learn to fly will have 75 percent of their flight training costs paid by the government under the new K-Vet bill. The rest must come out of the veteran's own pocket.

Five hundred officers of the Army Nurse Corps and 125 officers of the Women's Medical Specialists Corps Reserve will be ordered into active military service in February, March and April, 1953, the Department of the Army announces.

Construction of the first of seven new permanent-type hospitals planned for Army posts in this country will begin early next year, the Department of the Army has announced. The new buildings will provide for a minimum of 3200 patients. The hospitals represent the first step in the Army's program to transfer patients from wooden, cantonment-type structures built during WW II to modern multi-story structures.

Quiz Scheduled For Coming TIC

At Troop Information Conferences during the week of 29 September to 4 October, questions will be asked based on the previous month's talks.

For example: Can you name the chain of command? Do you know the history of the 7th Armored Division? Why are we fighting in Korea? What is the cost of major items of equipment?

These and other questions will be asked by discussion leaders.

Blood Program Yields Three Million Pints

Washington (AFPS)—Approximately 3,000,000 pints of blood were collected for the Armed Forces Blood Donor Program which has now been incorporated into the National Blood Program, the Department of Defense has announced.

The Armed Forces drive was initiated Sept. 1951 to supply immediate blood needs in Korea and build up military stocks of plasma. The new program was established by President Truman to augment military, civilian and civil defense blood needs in peacetime and war.

RESERVE COMMAND

According to Sgt. Ray Douge, S3 section, the year has 48 weeks. After laboriously completing a status chart for the section Sgt. Douge discovered that instead of 52 weeks, the "Dodge Special" had 48. Thus we now have the normal year, leap year and the Dodge year.

SFC Chandler Caldwell and SFC Ernest M. Savell, field first and mess sergeant, respectively, of Company B, 77th AIB, are redecorating the mess hall of that company. The color scheme is two-tone green, and the finished job will sport dyed drapes. From early indications, the finished project promises to be a terrific success.

Lt. Marvel Roper is presently on 21 days TDY with the III Corps at Hunter-Liggett for the purpose of testing. He's with Company B, 77th AIB.

374TH M.P. COMPANY

The M.P.'s recently received a letter, through channels and with endorsements from Major General Frank H. Partridge, Colonel Robert I. Stack, and Major Jacques De Hart, Provost Marshal, from Louis L. Johnson, a life insurance agent who spent a considerable amount of time here recently.

Clerk-Typist Cpl. Monroe S. Woodun, who recently received FECOM orders, is enjoying a furlough at home in San Antonio, Texas.

DIV FACULTY

The following instructors received superior ratings from the Division G3 inspection team: Lt. James W. Johnson, Jr., individual protective measures; Lt. Melvin C. Wathall, machine gun; PFC Thomas E. Dannelly, psychological warfare; and Lt. James M. McCarey, hasty fortifications.

The Tactics committee received one of the two superior ratings given at the Div Fac motor pool vehicle inspection.

SFC Itsumi Ota is going to Hawaii to be discharged. He is on the Rifle Committee. M/Sgt. Darold Kaiser reenlisted for six years in the Airborne. He's on the Tactics Committee.

HOSPITAL

Headquarters building, No. 207, has been undergoing repainting and redecorating. The main outside ramp has also been repainted and refloored.

WAC DETACHMENT

Chapel No. 4 was the scene recently of the marriage between WAC Col. Connie Crawford and SFC Raymond Hollingsworth, both of whom are assigned to the Entertainment Section of Special Services.

Chaplain (Capt.) Arthur E. Mills united the two. First Lt. John E. Pritchard, entertainment officer, gave the bride away. SFC Carlos Smith was best man, and WAC Cpl. Rose Barus was the bridesmaid.

464TH AAA (AW) BN.

The most popular sergeant in B Battery seems to be M/Sgt. Sidney Timmons. The men held a popularity contest and for each vote a quater was contributed to a mess hall redecorating fund. The master sergeant was the victor. What did he have to do for being so popular? He was in the mess hall one day on the pots and pans detail.

Soldier of the Week selected last Saturday was Cpl. Lauren Horne, a clerk-typist from Headquarters Battery. He calls Talladega, Alabama, his home.

Shipping Loss Seminars Held By Sixth Army

Means of reducing loss or damage through faulty loading, unloading, and other handling of Army material shipped by rail are being discussed at four two-day seminars in the Sixth Army area, it was announced at Sixth Army Headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco.

The seriousness of the problem is indicated by statistics which show that total losses from faulty handling of rail shipments of both military and civilian equipment have averaged more than $100,000,000 annually in the United States during the past three years.

Colonel Calvin L. Whittle, Transportation Corps, Chief of the Sixth Army Transportation Section, said the first seminar was held at Fort MacArthur, this week. Others will be held at Fort Douglas, Utah, Sept. 24 and 25; Fort Lawton, Wash., Oct. 1 and 2; and the Presidio of San Francisco, Oct. 7 and 8. Instructors are Mr. L. F. Delventhal, traffic inspector for the Western Pacific Railroad and Mr. Paul E. Hochelle, traffic manager of the Sixth Army Transportation Section.

Attending the seminars will be post transportation officers and other personnel responsible for Army rail shipments in the Sixth Army area.

Navy Body Armor Ordered By Army

Washington (AFPS)—Army troops in Korea will soon be wearing the Navy-developed body armor that has proven a " lifesaver" for front-line Marines.

The Army Quartermaster Corps has arranged with the Marine Corps to secure 25,000 suits for immediate delivery to the Far East.

The Marine Corps body armor was procured because of its immediate availability from industry on a quantity basis. However, the Army will continue limited procurement of its own 12-layer flexible body armor to support field tests and develop volume production techniques.

Bottle Losses Cut Recreation Funds

Here's a brief reminder from your PX. Bottle losses in Army exchanges are on the increase. This could make it more and more difficult to have money available for dividends at this installation, as well as others all over the country.

Bottle losses come out of PX operating expenses. When you fail to return an empty, you increase these operating expenses and decrease the money available for dividends.

Armed Forces Family Father Here On Visit

Alex Mraz, who probably has as good a claim as the head of any U. S. family to the title of Armed Forces Family Father, is currently visiting his son, CWO A. N. Mraz. In addition to Mr. A. N. Mraz, who is in the G3 Section, Alex Mraz has three other sons in the Army. They are John, M/Sgt. in Japan; Andrew, an SFC at West Point; and Louis, an SFC at SHAPE in Paris.

A fifth son, Joseph, is a S/1c with the U. S. Navy in the Mediterranean. In addition to his five sons, Alex Mraz has a daughter, Margaret. During the last war she, too, followed the family tradition and served as a WAVE at Annapolis.

The family has a total of about 65 years in the service to date. All are following careers in the Armed Services except the sister who left the WAVES to get married.

The elder Mr. Mraz, tried, during the last war, to add one more name to the Mraz roster in the Armed Forces. He attempted regularly—about once a week—to enlist and was just as regularly rejected because of his age. He protested that he was as good a man as his sons, but recruiting officers were adamant. Although he was never able to become a member of the Armed Forces, Mr. Mraz finds a great deal of satisfaction in the fact that through his sons and daughter he has helped contribute better than six decades of service.

Competitive Rivalry Between Companies Provides Jackpot In Entertainment

By JIM SEAY

Competitive rivalry makes the sports wheels go around, and it is a definite fact that it made the leather fly last Thursday in one of the best displays of company "esprit de corps" that this writer has seen in a long time.

With inter-company competition between B of the 95th and D of the 77th, Reserve Command, highlighting the energy and enthusiasm of the jam-packed Sports Arena crowd, which incidentally never seemed to stop yelling and cheering, Camp Roberts has hit the jackpot in entertainment.

And, according to Captain Glenn Wymer, Special Services Officer, plans are underway to set up a system whereby the winning company takes possession of a boxing trophy. In other competition if this company is again victorious it maintains permanent possession of the award. As yet this plan is not concrete, however the possibilities are under serious discussion, and the morale boost involved would be great.

Thursday's Smoker turned out to be lopsidedly in favor of Company D of the 77th. They won four out of the five bouts against B of the 95th. However, B of the 95th won three more battles against opponents from other companies, making a total of four wins and five losses for the evening.

One of the most interesting bouts of the evening was the battle between Ralph, Crissinger and Dave Shutters. Using the fighting style of Joe Louis, and stalking his quarry like a hunter, Crissinger finally managed to move in for the kill, flooring Shutters in the second round, although no count was taken.

Shutters reminded me of the lens on a camera, he would glide around the ring like a wrestler, momentarily hang on to the ropes with one hand, and let loose a high-flying left or right to whatever part of his opponent's upper torso that was available.

He was quick, but Crissinger topped the "shutter" speed of his opponent for the unanimous decision of the judges.

Two TKO's were registered, one by Win Forman of the 77th, and the other by Al Barraza of 6100 ASU. Forman floored Baumgardner of the 95th twice in the first round for the eight count, and was given a TKO when the Chicago fighter couldn't answer the bell for the second round.

Barraza got in a good right chop to the chin of Loran Presley, B of the 129th, dropping him in 32 seconds of the first round.

Clarence Shepard, B of the 95th lost a split decision to Don Aikinson, D of the 77th, in a match which was a real crowd pleaser.

Atkinson outclassed his opponent considerably, using a crouching style and unleashing his attack like a coiled spring.

In a North versus South match, mainly Oregon and the state of Texas, Oregonian Martin of the 95th failed to get out of the way of mighty Tex Oliver, of the 77th. Oliver connected with a couple of beautiful straight rights to the button. Both fighters mixed it up for the full three rounds, and had to be separated

WATCH IT, CHARLEY! The long looping right of Texas Win Forman carries a lot of weight, as Charley Baumgardner, left, Company B, of the 95th finds out during the first round. Floored twice for the count of eight, the Chicago fighter lost the bout via a TKO. Forman had a real shifty style which baffled the 138-pounder, and enabled the fighter to chalk up another win for Company D, of the 77th, Reserve Command. (Signal Photo.)

Combat Command A's All Stars were defeated by the Fort Ord Warriors, 4-2 in the playoffs Saturday at Camp Stoneman for the championship of the Sixth Army Southern Division tournament.

Finishing in one-two order, the Warriors and the All Stars will represent the Southern Division in the double elimination contest with the Northern winners and runners-up at Stoneman on September 27-30.

Hawaii Champs Meet Roberts All Star Nine

Camp Roberts All Stars took on the travelling Fort Shafter Commandos, champions of the Hawaii Armed Forces Baseball League, Tuesday for a seven inning contest, the results of which are not available at press time.

The star nine from across the Pacific played Camp Stoneman earlier this week, and after the game here they are scheduled to take on Camp Cooke, September 17th, San Luis Obispo on the 18th, Fort Ord on the 19th and the Presidio, September 20th.

Boasting four former Class A ball players, Don Larsen, Frankie Malzone, Charley Kaiser, and Johnnie McKeown, the Commandos batted .269 as a unit to lead the Hawaii circuit with 42 home runs.

Larsen is the leading earned run pitcher with a mark of 0.6 and also the top home run man with 15 to his credit. The property of the St. Louis Browns, he played with Wichita of the Western League in 1950.

The Fort Shafter Commandos wrapped up a 6-4 victory over the Camp Roberts All Stars in a game which saw the visitors collect three homeruns, and the Stars one.

First baseman, Don Larsen zeroed in for two four-baggers, Frank Malzone collected another, and Camp Roberts Al Mouton made the other.

Malzone holds down the short-stop spot, and is the property of the Boston Red Sox. Last year he was with Scranton of the Eastern League and was scheduled to move up to Louisville of the American Association, until Uncle Sam stepped in and drafted his chances. Malzone led the Hawaii League in runs batted in with 59, and ranked second with a .360 batting average.

The Philadelphia Athletics own the pro contract of Charley Kaiser. The second baseman's home ground was Savannah, Georgia of the Sally League in 1950, and then Camp Gordon for the Army nine.

As the only left-handed batter on the roster, Johnnie McKeown, owned by the Pittsburgh Pirates, ranks as one of the longest ball clouters in the Hawaii League. The right field spot is his favorite territory.

Winning 37 games and dropping only 9 in the entire season, the Commandos defeated the Navy All Stars in a post season series, two games to one, and bowed to the Red Sox, a top civilian outfit in the Islands, in the first annual Hawaii World Series, four games to three. They lost the finale, 5-4 in a 10 inning battle.

The Sox last week continued their winning streak with an 8-5 victory over the Washington Colonials, champions of the National Baseball Congress.

The All Stars batted their way to the top twice in the tournament only to be defeated both times by the powerful Fort Ord nine.

In the first game the Warriors nosed out the Stars by a close margin of 5-4, with former New York Yankee pitcher, Tom Morgan and Bob Ross, formerly of the Washington Senators and Kansas City Blues, bailing for hurling honors.

Coming from behind in the final encounter, the Ordmen scored their first run in the bottom of the sixth, two in the seventh and one more in the eighth to win the Southern Division championship.

Camp Roberts started off the scoring in the first inning with a homer by Bob Winkles, and came back again in the third with another four-bagger by pitcher, Bob Harrison. That put the All Stars in the lead by a two-run margin, which went unchallenged until the bottom of the sixth. This is where Melton poked out his homer.

In the bottom of the seventh, Harrison walked Thurston and Perez, and on a wild pitch both men strove a base, setting them up for Bill Taylor's single which made the tally, 3-2.

The Warriors came across for their final score in the bottom of the eighth when Olson clubbed one that was too hot for rightfielder Herold to handle, and the Ord Warriors went all the way.

Pitching honors for the tournament go to Bob Harrison, Bob Ross, and Ronnie Lee, while Jack Holmquist was the leading batter with 10 hits in 21 times at bat for a .476 average. Herold was next with .350. Winkles with .315 and Gil Dickens with .285. This makes the fifty-sixth game for the All Star team and as the record now stands they've won 47 and lost only 8.

Trophy Standings

The point standings for the Camp Commander's Trophy race are narrowing down, but Reserve Command is still out in front, and 6100 ASU is close behind the front pacer. The number three spot remains in the custody of Combat Command A, but the Quartermasters are moving up. Point totals as of August are as follows:

ResCom	1150
6100 ASU	983 1/3
CCA	925
7th QM	883 1/3
CCB	837 1/2
Divarty	770 5/6
Divtrains	700
Divfac	125
East Garrison	175

Indoor Rifle Kings

New York (AFPS)—A New York National Guard Unit—Co. D, 10th Infantry Regt—has won the National Guard Bureau's indoor rifle matches for 1952. Co. D was also the winner last year.

Boxing Team Set For Stoneman All Star Card

The Post Boxing team leaves for the North tonight to participate in the All Star boxing show at Camp Stoneman.

These bouts should provide more than adequate entertainment for sports fans, especially the ones between Sammy LaCross and George Muller, Willie Fuller and Ray Gil, and Mas Unemoto and John Coopersmith.

LaCross, who is the sixth Army champ, whipped Jim Womack, the 1952 All-Service lightweight champ of the Western Pacific, last week on TV. Matched with Muller, who copped the 1951 Golden Glove title in the 136 pound novice division, Sammy should be in the prime for another killing.

Willie Fuller won't have to worry about glove action when he meets Ray Gil, the 1951 Golden Glove champ in the 147 pound class. Gil has been really working for this bout and looks plenty rugged. Fuller is in topnotch shape and ready to go.

The other Golden Glove titlist is John Coopersmith, who will be slinging the leather against Mas Unemoto. Coopersmith held the 1951 title and is expected to give Sixth Army Champ Unemoto a good match.

Camp Roberts other Sixth Army champ, John Garrity, is up against Rudy Sanchez from Parks Air Force Base. Sanchez was a runner-up for the 1951 Golden Glove title, while Garrity has been seeing plenty of action on the television fights.

"Boom Boom" Bolden is expected to erupt into a fast onslaught of lefts and rights against Fort Ord's John Comacho. Bolden is the boy who copped the "outstanding fighter" trophy on TV and again at the San Luis Obispo bouts.

And if Jim Kinsey does as good as he did on television a few weeks ago, his opponent, Billy Morton, from Parks Air Force Base won't know what hit him. Kinsey wrapped up his bout in 55 seconds of the first round against the Marine Corps' Ivan Kneeling.

Another Roberts mittman, Rex Summers, will be bombarding the Air Force from Parks in the form of Earl Wilkerson. Summers went all the way recently on TV, deciding the Navy's Virgil Worton.

The first cool breezes of September have brought back the smell of pigskin, signalling the start of another football season. But plenty of action was recorded before a whistle was blown. College football did some belittling. The Ivy League banned spring practice and player subsidies. The Midwest argued the merits of post-season games. Service calls and higher tuitions cut the manpower ranks, forcing many coaches to abandon two-plateau schemes and bags of intricate tricks.

Into this atmosphere rolls the 1952 season, bearing the usual excitement and thrills. Favorites and underdogs loom again this year. Taking the nation apart sectionally, the top teams seem to us to include the following:

EAST—Pennsylvania appears to have ended Princeton's two-year Ivy League domination. A strong offensive attack and squad depth should hold off another good Tiger team, but one without Kazmaier. Boston College, Fordham and Bucknell loom as the best of the independents. BC and the Rams meet in mid-season. Bucknell's '51 powerhouse is back again, almost wholly intact.

MIDWEST—With Michigan State ineligible for Big 10 honors, Illinois is favored. Purdue and Minnesota promise to make a three-way race of it. But the Spartans are the region's outstanding squad, followed by an improving Notre Dame. The Irish are beginning to look like they did in the good old days—but a man-killing schedule may hurt their record. Dayton is the best of the smaller schools.

SOUTH—Selectors can't decide if Maryland is in the East or the South. But they all agree the veteran Terps are "loaded" and could repeat their 1951 unbeaten year. Four potential all-Americans head the squad. Georgia Tech is favored to repeat winning the Southeastern Conference crown if a successor to passer Darrell Crawford can be found. Duke, Florida and West Virginia are the other strong Dixie aggregations.

SOUTHWEST—This football-wild region has no favorites. Upsets are routine and expected. Still, the wise string along with Texas Christian and Texas as tops in the conference. TCU's backfield power gives them the edge. A tough schedule is all that bars the veteran Texans from running wild. Rice and Arkansas may surprise everyone. Texas Tech and Tulsa should romp in their conferences and Houston is the best of the independents.

PRAIRIE AND MOUNTAIN STATES—Kansas' dream backfield could mean the end of Oklahoma's Big Seven mastery. Nebraska depends on Bob Reynolds to return to 1950 form to move. Utah, Colorado and New Mexico look stronger.

FAR WEST—Perennial Pacific Coast leaders California and Southern Cal are once more bidding for the Rose Bowl. The guessers say both have the manpower and individual standouts. But they point to UCLA and Washington State—also well-stocked with stars and veterans.

New York — The Air Force staged a championship softball tournament at Keiser AFB, Miss., Sept. 5-9. The winning team will represent the AF in the National Softball Finals at Stratford, Conn. Sept. 13-20. Qualifying for the Keiser tournament recently was the 5005th USAF Hospital softball team, winner of the Alaskan Armed Forces Softball Tournament.

Annapolis, Md.—The U.S. Naval Academy's football team will use the single wing attack this season instead of the T formation, reports coach Eddie Erdelatz. The 45-man Middle squad will face a tough nine-game schedule, including Yale, Cornell, William and Mary, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Duke, Columbia, and Army. It will be a light team—Coach Eddie, at 235 pounds, is heavier than any of them!

San Diego, Calif.—The Marine Corps Recruit Depot baseball team clinched the All-Marine Corps championship recently by defeating Parris Island, S. C., in the playoffs, three games to two. Pitchers Fred Strobel and Buddy Closs led the Depot squad in the finals to give the team a seasonal record of 61 victories against 16 setbacks.

Special Troops Lose To Cooke Softballers, 3-1

The Camp Roberts softball team dropped a 3-1 decision to the Camp Cooke Medics last week, thereby eliminating them from the race for the Sixth Army championship.

The first game of the tournament saw the Southern Division champions, Camp Cooke, take on the Northern Division in a 1-0 tightly fought contest, with the Fort Lewis team copping the victory.

Camp Roberts met the other Northern representative, Camp Hanford in a shutout which saw the Washingtonian hurler allow the 6100 team only four hits. The Roberts softballers dropped the game by a 4-0 score.

Camp Cooke and Roberts in the loser's bracket ended up with a 3-1 victory for Cooke. The 6100 Special Troops got their lone tally when Mitchell connected for a single, advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt by Gunning, and went to third on a fly ball of Cardwells. Lundstrom stepped up to the plate and drove in the only score by Roberts.

THE FIGHTING IRISHMAN Earl "Ted" O'Leary, Company A, 31st MTB, right, cops a split decision over Ben Dawson, 138-pounder from Company B, of the 96th Reserve Command. The Clancy, Montana fighter utilized his swiftness to an advantage in ducking the flicking left of Dawson, who had both reach and height in his favor. The eleven bout and proved a real crowd-pleaser. # "Starlite Revue" Scores Success At Theater One

The laugh packed musical "Hollywood Starlite Revue" scored solidly last Saturday night before a capacity crowd of enthusiastic onlookers.

From the opening number to the grand finale, the cast presented a fast moving variety show made up of dances, singers and comedy.

FUNNYMAN—Sensational banjo player and comedian Freddie Morgan highlighted the evening of entertainment at Theater One last Saturday night as the show "Hollywood Starlite Revue" went through its paces. Mr. Morgan was a crowd favorite as he clowned through the number "Nobody's Sweetheart Now." (Signal Photo).

Stepping into the opening spotlight was comedian Hank McCune who kept the audience howling with his zany humor. This was Mr. McCune's third appearance here in the past few months, and the famous television and radio personality never fails to come forth with clever comedy skits and witty ad-libs.

The spotlight shifted as sparkling little Dawn Dea appeared to do a very lively song and dance routine to "Button Up Your Overcoat" and "Who Cares?"

Looking terrific in a black fringed gown, singer-comedienne Lee Lee was introduced next to the capacity audience. She presented her hilarious interpretation of "Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend" and the ever popular "Ballin' The Jack."

Memories of the good old vaudeville days were prominent as personable Jean Miller rocked her way through such favorites as "Hello My Baby," "Louisville Lou," "Hard Hearted Hannah," and "You Got To See Mama Every Night." The ovation that followed Miss Miller's performance was reason enough to bring her back for encores including "Take Me In Your Arms," and "You Made Me Love You."

Freddie Morgan, the sensational banjo player and comedian with the Spike Jones Show, highlighted the evening of entertainment as he played a terrific arrangement of his own "Banjo Boogie." Then with his instinctive clowning, he proceeded to play "Nobody's Sweetheart Now," and a very difficult version of "The Twelfth Street Rag."

Guest stars for the evening were Camp Roberts' own Ray Hollingsworth, who danced to "Bye, Bye Blues," pianist Earl Preston and comedian Jack Lueken.

Playing the part of a one man orchestra in this night of entertainment was lovely Joy Jenal who deserves much credit for the success of the show.

All Star Show Performs Here At Service Clubs

Service Clubs No. 1 and No. 2 were the scenes last week of a fast moving, sparkling musical revue, the All Star Revue, from Sixth Army Special Services.

The show got off to a tremendous start when David Dangberg star of the Broadway musicals "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific," was introduced as singing master of ceremonies.

Talented Maxine Avelar, came on stage next and entranced the audience with her exciting rendition of flamenco, bolero and castilian dancing. She returned to do a beautiful, interpretive folk dance of old Spain.

Another of the many highlights of this talent-packed show was the comedy vocalizing of lovely Judy Perkins of TV, stage, and night club fame. Seated at the piano was versatile Bob Hunter, formerly with RCA Victor and NBC in New York.

Guest star on the show was Kenny Miller, young Camp Roberts comedian. Last on the show was songstress Gloria Lester. The troupe also performed at the Officers' Club and the hospital.

Exciting Rhythms Of Old Spain

EXOTIC—Spanish folk dancer Maxine Avelar does some intricate stepping in the stage show "Sixth Army All-Star Revue." This talented seniorita entranced the crowd at both Service Clubs last week with her exciting renditions of the Flamenco, Bolero, and castanet dancing. For an encore Miss Avelar brought a bit of old Spain to the audience with an exciting folk dance. (Signal Photo).

Retired Admiral States Work Of USO Clubs Vital

Rear Admiral Wilder D. Baker, who retired recently as commander of the 11th Naval District, stated that the work of the USO is vital to defense at a recent meeting of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles.

Adm. Baker praised USO, adding some practical considerations of its work among servicemen on leave.

"One-third of the population of this country," said the admiral, "are veterans. And this is going to be increased rapidly. Before long nearer 40 percent than 33 percent will be veterans."

"Now you are businessmen. If you can do your part in keeping servicemen entertained it will have its effect later on, when they return to live in your communities. They are your prospective customers."

"It has been said that the serviceman spends his time being 90 percent bored to death and 10 percent scared. I think it's worse to be bored than scared."

"If he can spend his time in our cities in a profitable way and at the same time enjoy himself it will be better from the standpoint of his impression of the community than if he goes down to 'Skidrow.' Young men who are bored are apt to get in trouble."

"The work of the USO is a continuing medium as long as the war of ideologies goes on. Korea has just been a local fever in that war. The world is made up of two camps, those who believe in the state and those who believe in the citizen."

"But these young men are too young to know much about that. All they know is that they have been sent to the coldest country in the wintertime and the hottest, wettest in the summertime. You have a responsibility in this because your representatives sent them there."

Special Services Conduct Search For Army Song

Washington (AFPS) — A fellow needs a girl to sit by his side at the end of a weary day — the Army needs a song. And it's really looking for one.

The idea is to come up with one that will be to the Army what the Marine Hymn is to the Marine Corps, Anchors Aweigh is to the Navy and the Air Force Song is to the Air Force. In short, it's looking for a musical trademark.

Through the Special Services Division, the Army has asked many song-writers to apply their talents to the idea. Most of the writers are from the American Society of Composers and Playwrights and Broadcast Music Incorporated. Amateurs, too have been welcomed to try their luck.

When the songs are finished they will be processed by the Special Services Division for accuracy, authenticity and suitability. They then will be sent to Lt. Col. Robert Shinn, PIO of First Army, who will turn them over to Kenny Gardner of Guy Lombardo's orchestra. He will make voice and piano recordings.

The songs will then be presented to members of the Army Song Board including representatives of the top recording companies in the country. Col. Shinn is executive secretary of the Board. They will select five or six of the songs submitted.

Then the "plugging" will begin through all available channels, both commercial and Army. Army bands will make special orchestration for the songs. AFPS will record them and send them over its network.

The one that best captures the imagination of the Army and the public will be chosen as the official Army song.

Show Biz

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

Doris Day came out from behind her freckles, smiles, and youthful naturalness recently and loosed a salvo against good-looking men. The triple threat dancer, singer and actress scorned the Adonis-type male with the pronouncement: "As far as I'm concerned, handsome men lack sex appeal. The irresistible handsome man is often a bore, and more often in love with himself. Plain men are generally the best providers, give a woman more material comforts, more loyalty and devotion than the good-lookers. Those beautiful hunks of men may appeal to some women, but not to me. They're often selfish and inconsiderate. A woman married to one usually has a lot of worrying to do. Give me the homely type anytime!" Attention, plain-looking men: Miss Day is married.

Looks At Books

Looking for a good laugh or a new historical novel? Then don't miss these books.

If you enjoy a story which pokes fun at the ignorant worship of science, don't miss "903" by Edward Hyams. Sylvester Green and his two companions feeling the effects of alcoholic stimulation steal a baby carriage and the brass balls from a pawn shop and bring them where the neutral warship Agraria is docked. Since no one is about, it seems a good joke to weld the weldable parts to the ship and see what it looks like. The next morning, everyone, including the officers of the Agraria and Sylvester's own British cruiser are perplexed and dismayed by the strange structure which may be a secret weapon.

Here is a new book by that popular author Harold Lamb. "THE ODOR AND THE EMPEROR" is a half fictionalized history of Justinian the Great who rose from a country boy to become a Roman emperor. You'll read also about Belisarius, the general who made Justinian's dreams come true temporarily by reconquering Carthage from the Vandals.

So whether you enjoy humor or serious reading, you'll find both at your libraries.

Marilyn Meets Mickey!

New York—An irresistible force collided with an immovable object recently when actress Marilyn Monroe met Mickey Spillane.

The event took place in a hotel suite here where Miss Monroe was staying while publicizing her latest picture "Monkey Business."

Mr. Spillane, whose tough, detective story novels have made him one of the most popular authors in the Armed Forces, was in the midst of discussing his gun collection with a group of reporters. A door in the adjoining bedroom swung open and conversation, including Mr. Spillane's recital, skidded to a halt.

Marilyn Monroe entered the room wearing a pink knitted dress split in front into a perfect inverted triangle. With her blond hair beautifully mussed, she posed for photographers. Mr. Spillane unbuttoned his coat jacket.

Formal introductions began. Miss Monroe shook hands with her guests, finally arriving at Mr. Spillane. All eyes centered on this fateful meeting. Would Mr. Spillane whip out a revolver? Would he attempt a "tough guy" approach? Would he act with this magnificent blonde the way Mike Hammer does in his books?

Mr. Spillane said, "Glad to know you." Miss Monroe shook his extended hand and said, "Hello." Both smiled and separated; Miss Monroe to reporters and Mr. Spillane to the pretzel bowl. "Do you receive much mail from servicemen?" we asked. Miss Monroe's well-shaped lips pinched into a smile.

"By the bushful, mostly requests for pinups. I do my darndest to answer their requests. Every so often I receive a letter about being named 'The Girl We'd Most Like To' something or other from units in Korea. It's a tremendous 'bit of flattery that makes me all warm inside."

"I try to visit as many camps as possible in the California vicinity. It's awfully funny when I get on the stage. I usually wear a slinky gown or a well-fitted suit. I walk to the microphone and the following begins. I try to speak but the noise doesn't stop. So I just stand and smile until things quiet down. What an audience!"

Miss Monroe excused herself and we wandered back to Mr. Spillane who was now talking about stock car races. The former WWII flyer had his collar open and spoke about his new racer, which can hit better than 140 mph. He seemed absolutely oblivious of Miss Monroe's presence.

Mr. Spillane, we decided, is definitely as hard-boiled as his books. —PFC Herb Zucker.

Personnel Invited To Party Tuesday

Singing, dancing and refreshments will highlight the Back to School party at Service Club No. 2 Tuesday evening.

All East Garrison personnel are invited to attend the party and reminisce about school days.

Easy Listening

WHILE LISTENING to actress Lisa Loughlin on the radio show "FBI in War and Peace" isn't exactly difficult, it can't compare to looking at this curvaceous beauty. Television, where sit thou?

"My girl plays the piano by ear."
"That's nothing. My old man fiddles with his whiskers."

Exercise kills germs, but the trouble is to get the darn things to exercise.

Pat: "Dad and Dooley have been fighting for 20 years, but begorry, they've quit."
Mike: "Buried the hatchet, eh?"
Pat: "No, they buried Dooley."

The floor is the only thing sure to stop falling hair.
"There's only one thing that keeps you from being a bare-faced liar."
"What's that?"
"Your mustache."

Start Production On New Musical Comedy

After the successful tour of "Basic Ballyhoo," Ken Miller, the director, has announced the beginning of a new musical comedy production, the "One for the Road" show.

Dancers, singers, actors, and novelty acts of all sorts are being auditioned each evening at 1900 hours at Service Club No. 1. There is also need for people interested in the production end.

New classical records just purchased include Offenbach's "Gaité Parisienne," "Romeo and Juliet," "Overture Fantasia," Berlioz "Opus No. 17" and Schumann's "Carnival Opus No. 9," with pianist Alexander Brailowsky.

Super Cooper

ATTRACTIVE Toni Cooper doesn't seem interested in swimming as she smiles prettily for a photographer beside a pool in Las Vegas, Nev. Hiding such obvious assets under H2O would be criminal, anyway.
