

Company B, 38th Armored Infantry Battalion
Morphis Jamiel's Platoon Names on Captured German Flag
and Names in William Cole's Personal Pocket Book

<https://www.7tharmdiv.org/docrep/X-38B2-Cole-Flag.pdf>

Transcribed from the original flag by Majetta Stokes, granddaughter of William Cole, who owned the flag. Edited and annotated by Wesley Johnston, son of Walter Johnston of Company "B", 38th Armored Infantry Battalion. The handwritten spellings are sometimes difficult to read. The spellings as Majetta Stokes read them are retained. The correct spellings can be seen in the abstracts of the B/38 Morning Report entries after each man. Each squad is colored separately. If there is any question of accuracy, see the images of the flag at the end (obtained from Majetta Stokes by Dario Shore, grandson of the brother of Philip Orlando, who died 9 Apr 1945 of wounds suffered 7 Apr 1945).

William Cole entered service in the United States Navy but broke his back falling from a ship ladder and was discharged. He enlisted, after signing a waiver, with the United States Army and trained in 1942 with the 502nd Parachute Infantry Regiment, 101st Airborne Division. He sailed to Europe with the 502nd in September 1943. From then until November 1944, there is a gap that research has not yet filled. But his stories to his family indicate that he was involved in at least one combat jump and possibly more. He was assigned to the 7th Armored Division on November 13, 1944 as a replacement and was assigned to Company B, 38th Armored Infantry Battalion, almost certainly in the Anti-Tank Platoon, probably in 2nd Squad. He participated in the defense of St. Vith, Belgium in December 1944 and the recapture of St. Vith in January 1945. At some point, he was transferred to Lt. Morphis Jamiel's rifle platoon (probably 2/B/38) and was promoted to Sergeant and then Staff Sergeant by the end of February 1945, serving as a squad leader. He remained in that role until he was wounded in the reduction of the Ruhr Pocket on April 14, 1945. He was awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge (7AD GO #17, 17 Jan 1945).

Apparently during the few days lull April 1-3, 1945 when they were at Altenlotheim, Germany, between the encirclement and the beginning of the reduction of the Ruhr Pocket, the men of Lt. Jamiel's platoon had their names recorded by squad on a large captured German swastika flag. The flag is larger than a king-sized bed. It was apparently flying from a building that the platoon had taken, either during the encirclement of the Ruhr Pocket or in the capture of the Edersee Dam. Some of the men signed their own names. Other names appear to have been written in by someone to complete the list of names for each squad. Within two weeks, four of those men would be dead from the combat in the Ruhr Pocket, and many others – including S/Sgt Cole would be wounded.

Following the names on the flag are the names of men who he recorded in a pocket book. Most of the men on that list were casualties.

General Notes on the Above

Those with "InfDivRgDt K" were men sent home to train for the invasion of Japan. They were sent by truck and then train to Camp Lucky Strike (St. Valery en Caux, France) and then boarded the SS Montclair Victory 1 Aug 45 at Le Havre and landed in Boston 9 Aug 45. The war in Japan ended before their 30-day leaves had ended.

LWA = Lightly Wounded in Action (i.e. wounds not thought by the commanding officer to be life threatening)

SWA = Seriously Wounded in Action (i.e. wounds thought by the commanding officer to be life threatening)

LIA = Lightly Injured in Action

ss = "slightly sick" (a catch-all category for all non-battle casualties of any kind)

cs = division clearing station

ev = sent to an Evacuation Hospital
